

Just as I can't smoke on an airplane because of potential health concerns of second-hand smoke, you should not allow my workplace to be converted into a microwave oven. More and more bars and restraunts are prohibiting smoking to protect the health of their workers. I should be afforded the same consideration. Of course, that would require you to stop swallowing the cell phone industry propaganda that the use of cell phones is harmless.